ANNUAL REPORT

OF THE SCHOOL COMMITTEE.

Every term of the schools, under my supervision, has, in my judgment, been more or less successful. I do not think I have a single failure to report. Each of four districts wisely employed one teacher for the year. In each instance a much greater success was secured than could well have been possible by changing teachers.

TEXT-BOOKS.

The law of our state, as to changes in text-books, is both wise and eminently beneficial. The fewest changes, consistent with the best interests of our schools, should be made. And in displacing any book now in use, the greatest care should be taken to secure the very best text-book in its department. Yet very rare changes in text-books would be justified, even were the new book in itself no improvement upon the old. Too long use of any one text-book in our schools tends to lessen and dull the interest of the pupils, and to substitute recitation by rote for real knowledge. An improved speller, the best, it is believed, has been adopted this year.

Every prudential committee the coming year is earnestly recommended to introduce into his school a Numeral Frame for the use of the primary classes in arithmetic. Thus, at a very trifling cost to each district, the progress of these classes may be very greatly promoted.

It is much to be desired that the parents should feel and manifest a deeper interest in our public schools. Your committee is glad to mention that some of the parents have been present at most of the final examinations.

We have occasion to be thankful for our home talent in teachers, and this not in depreciation of teachers from out of town.

DISTRICT No. 1.

All three terms were under the instruction of Miss Minnie E. Morse, an earnest, faithful, and progressive teacher. This school showed increasing progress during the whole year. Especially worthy of note were the classes in grammar, algebra, and geometry. The classes in arithmetic were unusually well drilled at the blackboard, and solved examples with great promptness and accuracy. Considerable attention was given to the best English literature.

ROLL OF HONOR.

First Term.

Mary F. Huntress.
Mabel A. Carter.

Second Term.

Mary F. Huntress.

DISTRICT No. 2.

The first term was taught by Miss Luella G. Silver. The order seemed to be excellent. The teacher was evidently faithful in using old methods of instruction. Good progress was made by some of the classes; fair progress by all. Addie M. Woods did not miss a word in spelling during the whole term.

The teacher for the second term was Miss Marian H. Seavey. Good order and good progress characterized the school. Of both teacher and pupils it may be said, "Well done." Marked improvement was made by all the classes.

ROLL OF HONOR.

First Term.

Hannah L. Plumer.
Mary A. Plumer.
Cora E. Hale.
Fred G. Hale.

Second Term.

Hannah L. Plumer.
Charlotte M. Plumer.
Addie M. Woods.

DISTRICT No. 3.

Miss Isabel Seavey taught this school during the year, of three terms. A marked characteristic of both teacher and pupils during the whole year was a steady enthusiasm in their work. Much real progress was made in all the studies. A very great amount of good work was done in the second term. The third term was somewhat broken by rough weather and by sickness, but much solid work was done. The classes in reading were thoroughly drilled. During the last part of the year there was a large class using Quackenbos's U. S. History as a reading-book, with daily examinations. Under Miss Seavey, this method of studying history proved very successful.

ROLL OF HONOR.

First Term.	Mabel Perry.
Edith S. Durgin.	George Dumas.
Mary A. Durgin.	Frank G. Sargent.
Mary M. Dumas.	Second Term.
Emma W. Perry.	Jessie P. Raymond.
Jessie P. Raymond.	Lucy M. Raymond.
Lucy M. Raymond.	Mary A. Durgin.
Nettie M. Sargent.

DISTRICT No. 4.

Both terms of this school were under the instruction of Miss Sarah E. Coffin, an experienced and faithful teacher. Much solid work was done. The class in book-keeping presented results eminently satisfactory; also the class in algebra. Worthy of note, also, was a class of three young ladies in analysis. Good progress was also made in geography, arithmetic, and other branches. History was taught in this school, also, by using it as a text-book in reading, accompanied with constant examinations. Miss Coffin also demonstrated the great value of the large map of New Hampshire, a copy of which hangs in each of our school-rooms.

ROLL OF HONOR.

First Term.
Mary H. Choate.	Lizzie M. Choate.
Mary I. Rand.

DISTRICT No. 5.

The first term was under Miss Mattie L. Sawyer,—a quiet, patient, faithful teacher. The order was very excellent. At the close of the term there was manifest evidence of hard and successful study. Miss Sawyer seemed most in her element with her classes in algebra and arithmetic. Well worthy of mention was the class in algebra. All the mathematical classes were well drilled at the blackboard. The wall maps were used by the whole school, with the best results.

Miss Carrie W. Sawyer had charge of the second term. The school opened well. On account of illness your committee was unable to visit this school at the close of this term. But the examination papers were sent to me, and from them I judge the school to have reached a fair degree of success. And this seems to be the common judgment of the district.

ROLL OF HONOR.

First Term.

Lulie E. Towne.

Second Term.

Viola A. Paige.

DISTRICT No. 6.

Both terms were under the charge of Miss S. Pauline Little,—an energetic and successful teacher. No pupil failed to make fair progress, and very excellent work was done by some of the classes. All the classes made a good appearance on the floor—"on a line," erect, attentive.

The second term was greatly interrupted by the illness of more than half the pupils. Less than half were present at the final examination. Yet substantial, and in some cases quite marked, progress was evident. The primary class in geography would have been our banner class had it not been broken by sickness.

ROLL OF HONOR.

First Term.

Alice Chase.

Ava Griffin.

Alice Hardy.

Mattie Hardy.

DISTRICT NO. 7.

The several terms have been in a fair degree successful, though much interfered with by sickness, scarlet fever and other diseases having prevailed to such an extent that the attendance has been very irregular. One bright and promising scholar, who always did the best she could,—Lena F. Bickford,—has died; and although she had not been long in attendance, had made for herself a place in the school and in the affections of all who had to do with her which cannot be filled.

The teachers have all given their best efforts to make their schools profitable, notwithstanding the adverse conditions which they could not control.

The fall term of the grammar school was very excellent, leaving but small ground on which to suggest an improvement,—all the fundamental branches, together with Latin, music, drawing, and penmanship, having each its due share of attention.

At the last annual meeting in this school district, it was voted to instruct the prudential committee to hire competent teachers in vocal music and drawing. Mr. John Jackman was employed for the summer terms to teach vocal music, which he did very acceptably. Although the method he introduced was entirely new, yet considerable improvement was made. In the primary department there has been no teacher of music since, Miss Stone having done what she could to carry out the method introduced by Mr. Jackman. Nothing has been done in drawing except during the fall term in the grammar school, when Mr. Rundlett, the teacher, gave considerable attention to it. Great progress was shown, as all can testify who saw the drawing-books at the examination at the close. Mr. Rundlett and Mr. Harmon, both being good singers, have given some attention to vocal music during their respective terms as teachers.

An impression seems to prevail that drawing and music are not quite the things for our district schools; and if we do not have teachers who can give instruction in these branches, it can make but little difference. But “the world does move;” and the same course of study which sufficed for a third of a century ago will not do now. Many of the old branches of study and methods of instruction we cannot afford to give up; but we must keep up with the times if we would have our children receive the full amount of benefit to which they are entitled, and which it is no more than right should be expected. My own opinions on these questions are very decided; and I appeal to you, fathers and mothers, and friends of education, to see to it that no retrograde movement is made on this line. Daniel Webster once said that "What man does for others, not what they do for him, gives him immortality." Shall we not do for our own and our neighbors' children all we can, that they in their day and generation may be able to do the more for others, and so the good work go on until it ends—no, not that,—lives forever in the great eternity to which we all shall soon come?
